

Meet Leila Nelson

Leila is a professional organizer who brings enthusiasm and compassion to the process of helping people regain control of their lives by becoming better organized. After years of working as a consultant and speaker in organizational skills development for top 100 corporations, Leila now uses that knowledge to create positive change in the home environment. Leila's goal is to help individuals better their lives through priority setting and better organization of space. Working side by side with the clients to remove clutter in the home, reorganize space and develop storage systems, Leila helps people create sustainable change. The result is A Better Space and the peace of mind that comes with an orderly, manageable environment.
